- A 31-year-old contacts an outpatient treatment program to receive treatment for opioid use disorder and has some challenges stabilizing via phone/telehealth contact.

- A detoxification facility was not able to admit a patient due to fever, cough, and presumed COVID19 positive test. He is quarantined at a local hotel supported by county resources - a department of health representative has asked if ‘ambulatory detox’ for alcohol dependence could be arranged from an outpatient clinic to the hotel site supporting him

- A 44-year-old patient with a long history of opioid and stimulant use disorder has taken several doses of his ‘two week’ take-home quantity of methadone which he received due to COVID19 - he normally attends 6/7 days a week.
