An Introduction to ACMT

Making the Most of Your Medical Toxicology Fellowship Experience

Paul Wax, MD, FACMT
Executive Director

Evan Schwarz, MD, FACMT
Membership Committee Chair

Louise Kao, MD, FACMT
Board President

Emily Kiernan, DO
Chair, Medical Toxicology FIT Association (MTFITA)
Founded in 1993, the American College of Medical Toxicology (ACMT), is a professional, nonprofit association of physicians with board certification in Medical Toxicology and other medical professionals with recognized expertise in the specialty.

ACMT members practice in clinical, academic, government, and public health settings, and provide poison control center leadership.

ACMT Mission, Vision, Goals

MISSION STATEMENT
Advance the toxicological care of patients and populations; advocate for the specialty of medical toxicology

VISION STATEMENT
Every patient and population benefits from the expertise of medical toxicologists

GOALS

Goal 1 Improve the toxicologic assessment, treatment, and care of patients and populations in the United States and Internationally

Goal 2 Enhance membership value and engagement

Goal 3 Ensure ACMT is a highly valued, relevant, and sustainable organization
ACMT Values

Advocacy – Advocate for the care of all toxicologic patients and individuals including those most vulnerable

Education – Promote and sustain continuous learning and competency in medical toxicology; serve as the education leaders for other health care providers and the public

Global Health – Advocate for the specialty of medical toxicology globally. Collaborate with health care providers globally through education and research

Health Equity - Ensure that all patients especially those most vulnerable -- socially and economically disadvantaged -- have access to quality health care

Innovation – Lead change in the field of medical toxicology

Integrity – Be ethical, transparent, and evidence-informed in our communications with our patients, the public, and other health care professionals

Leadership – Guide change and exemplify excellence that will chart the course of medical toxicology

Membership – Provide our members with mentorship and high-quality benefits and encourage diverse practices and career fulfillment

Patient Care – Provide high quality direct patient care in a variety of clinical settings

Research – Create research opportunities that yield new toxicologic knowledge and translate it into clinical care and improved health outcomes for individuals and populations
Founded in 2010, ToxIC is a multicenter toxico-surveillance and research network under the auspices of ACMT. ToxIC has been managing and adapting its registry to serve as a database for public health surveillance and emerging exposures within the field of toxicology.

Data collection includes information on drugs of abuse, pediatric marijuana and opioid exposures, envenomations, plant and mushroom poisoning, fentanyl analog exposures, and adverse drug events to COVID-19 treatments.
The Journal of Medical Toxicology is ACMT’s international, medline-indexed, peer-reviewed journal.

Published quarterly, JMT is dedicated to advancing the science and practice of medical toxicology by publishing original articles, illustrative cases, review articles, and other special features.

Introduction to ACMT for Fellows-in-Training
July 2022
The ACMT Board of Directors FIT Program is intended to introduce the fellow to the process of board governance, non-profit budget construction, and activities of the College.

The appointment provides a unique networking opportunity with medical toxicology leaders from around the country and provides a strong voice for a fellow-in-training member, reflecting the concerns of the next generation of medical toxicologists.

Next Application Deadline: January 1, 2023
The ToxIC FIT Program is intended to introduce the fellow to the process of organizing, designing, and administering a large multicenter research and surveillance program.

Current ToxIC projects are funded by the NIH, CDC, FDA, and corporate contracts. This opportunity provides a unique networking opportunity with leaders in the medical toxicology research community and to be involved in research projects, including potentially at the co-authorship level.

Next Application Deadline: January 1, 2023
The fellow-in-training appointment to the Editorial Board of Journal of Medical Toxicology is intended to introduce the fellow to the process of peer review, editing, and publishing of medical research manuscripts.

The appointment will provide the fellow with an experience that will enhance their career in medical toxicology and in scientific publication and develop skills that could lead to later participation as a peer reviewer or editorial board member for a scientific journal.

Next Application Deadline: January 1, 2023
Medical Toxicology in Industry Fellows Rotation Program

Next Application Deadline: Oct 30, 2022 (for Feb 2023 rotation)

Number of Awards per rotation: 4-5
4-week virtual rotation
