#NACCT2026

Call for Proposals: ACMT Scientific Symposium

Deadline: January 23, 2026

ACMT is seeking proposals for a Scientific Symposium at the 2026 North American Congress of Clinical Toxicology (NACCT). This is a 60-minute session focused on advances in medical toxicology, with a strong emphasis on basic science. Didactic presentation is preferred, but panel discussions may be considered if the topic and timing allow. In the session, attendees will learn about cutting edge topics in medical toxicology.

Previous Scientific Symposium topics have included:

- A Translational Approach in the Investigation of Mitochondrial Defects and Therapy in Acute Poisoning (2020)
- Updates in Drug Impaired Driving (2021)
- Science of Psychedelics (2022)
- Fire and Ice: SUD and OUD Management in Canada (2023)
- Snakes on a Plain: The Pharmacology and Clinical Applications of Venomous Snake Toxinology Research (2024)
- Toxicology of Sleep (2025)

How to Apply

Proposals should include:

1. Title: Reflects the overall theme and vision for the symposium.
2. Objectives: 1-3 learning objectives that succinctly highlight what educational benefits attendees will gain. Resource for developing meaningful learning objectives:

3. Lecture Description: 3-5 sentence description of the lecture, explaining why the topic is compelling and valuable to attendees.
4. Speaker(s): You may propose a potential speaker or panelists, but please do not make any commitments prior to submitting your proposal. Final selection of speakers and modifications to the session are at the discretion of the ACMT Education Committee.

While some adjustments may be necessary, the Education Committee reserves the right to reconsider a session if there are significant changes, such as speaker substitutions or shifts in the session's intended focus.

Review Process

All submissions will be peer-reviewed by the ACMT Education Committee and leadership. Selected proposals will be forwarded to NACCT for final approval, with decisions anticipated by February 2026.

Travel Support

ACMT members are responsible for covering their own expenses to attend NACCT, including travel, hotel, and registration fees.
